

WHEN COMING HOME WILL BEGIN

Summer Colonists From Mountains and Ridges Will Begin Returning Next Month.

Signal Mountain and Lookout Growing in Popularity as All-the-Year-Round Homes.

Just now to be away from the city and the intense heat of its gummy streets and compact buildings is a source of congratulation to the summer colonists on the mountains and ridges. Some of them are already down-town shopping as much as possible, and when they do come, make it a part of their morning duties.

One mother declared today that a party from the mountain had come down shopping yesterday as early as 4 o'clock, and whenever she came, she preferred the early morning hours. Nevertheless, the call to the city will be just as strong in the fall as it has been in the summer. Those who have children to go to school will probably return earlier than those who can suit their own convenience, but it is evident that September and October will be busy "home-coming" months.

The question of houses promises to be a serious one, and renters who retained their leases while away for the summer will count themselves fortunate, besides the fall always brings newcomers to Chattanooga, and the public has already been told that rents are going up.

Some will not return to the city, but go elsewhere for the winter, while a larger per cent. than usual will remain on Signal Mountain for the winter, as it did last year, and during the near cold famine the inn was a very popular resort for a number of local people.

Mrs. James A. Wiggs and Miss Elizabeth Wiggs will remain at their permanent home near the inn, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bosworth Smith will stay on the ridge this winter. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mison will remain at their home on the ridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Krueger and children will close "Grey Lodge," and open their town house about the time school opens.

Hon. and Mrs. Foster V. Brown will return to the city about the first of October. Mrs. Z. C. Patten, who is now at Brookville, Mo., will not return to Ashland farm until the latter part of the summer. Miss Margaret Key, who is at Haven, Me., will come back about the middle of September. Mrs. D. M. Key will not close her home on Walden's ridge until the latter part of October and will spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Watten at Ashland farm. Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Read and Misses Read will move from their country home, Lakeview, about Oct. 1, to their town place on Fort wood. Mr. and Mrs. John C. Griffin, Jr., and Jamie Griffin will move to town Oct. 1. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Trotter and Miss Clara Trotter will remain guests at Signal Mountain inn until "the leaves begin to turn brown." Col. and Mrs. Ed Watkins will be at the inn temporarily. Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Milburn will remain at Signal Mountain inn indefinitely. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Fort Brown will be at the inn temporarily. Miss Josephine Danforth will be at the inn the remainder of the summer. Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Brown will keep their summer home on Walden's ridge open the rest of the summer. Mayor and Mrs. J. M. Littleton will remain at the inn the rest of the summer. Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Van Dyke and Miss Louise Van Dyke will

FRENCH ORPHAN TAUGHT TO PRAY FOR GODMOTHER

Clifton Hills Red Cross Chapter Receives Letter of Appreciation From Protege.

"I shall teach my little Etienne to love and respect you for kindness. He will always pray a little prayer for his French godmother in America," writes a mother of a French war-orphan to the Clifton Hills Red Cross auxiliary of Chattanooga.

Madame Etienne Vasseur, the mother of the little French boy, wrote her letter in French, in which she expressed her love and gratitude to the Clifton Hills Red Cross auxiliary of Chattanooga.

The Red Cross auxiliary of Clifton Hills was organized last March, and in co-operation with the Junior Red Cross of the Clifton Hills school, has been raising the sum of $237.75. Most of this money has been used to buy materials for hospital garments, and the members of the society under the leadership of its president, Mrs. W. N. Hamilton, and its secretary and treasurer, Mrs. S. S. Terry have been working faithfully.

They feel, however, that one of the best investments they have made is the French boy, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence, at Camp Forrest. Mrs. Mills is the wife of the late Gen. Mills.

Col. and Mrs. Howell, Col. and Mrs. Nacue and Miss Nacue are in command of the camp.

From "somewhere in Belgium" a letter dated July 19 has been received by Mrs. W. C. McCoy, of Missionary ridge, from her nephew, Sergt. F. F. Sparks.

"Dear Benefactress and Kind Godmother:—I shall never be able to thank you enough for the generosity that you have shown to my son and me. I am very much obliged to you, and I also permit myself to write you to let you know that I shall teach my little Etienne to love and respect you for your kindness. He will always pray a little prayer for his French godmother in America, and I also, I shall pray for you that God will keep you a long time in our affection."

"It was so much affected by your gift that I cried for joy. The director said I ought not to cry, but I could not help it. I am so happy, and I thought of my dear one who had gone, and that it was his death which made it necessary for me to receive that money which came from such a long distance to let you know that I shall teach my little Etienne to love and respect you for your kindness. He will always pray a little prayer for his French godmother in America, and I also, I shall pray for you that God will keep you a long time in our affection."

"I assure you the money will be used to advantage, for my little son needs many things. Clothes and shoes are so dear that often I hesitate to buy."

"You will pardon me for writing you such a long letter, but I am so very grateful for your kindness in aiding me so generously to support my son."

"Accept, dear benefactress, the assurance of my deep gratitude, also a sweet kiss from your little godson, Etienne Vasseur."

"BRANDED" NAME OF NEW BOOK BY FRANCIS LYNDE

Deals With Parole System and Picturesque Life in Mining Camps.

"Branded" is the name of the latest book from the pen of Francis Lynde, of Lockport, N. Y., who in the quiet of his home is furnishing the publishers with one book a year besides writing quite a number of magazine stories. "Branded" is being run at present by an eastern publication under the heading of "Some of the Stories That Help to Make This Paper Popular."

Lynde's new book deals more with heart interest than the author usually handles. The scene opens in the middle west and travels to the growing, intended to be interesting as it reaches a mining camp, a part of the country with which Mr. Lynde is familiar, as he lived there when a young man before coming to Chattanooga.

The leading character represents a young man who has been imprisoned in the middle west, and is later paroled. Here it deals rather vigorously with the parole system. The story is crushed with the disgrace which clung to him, broke his parole and sought the far west where he was not known. Here he advanced and was establishing himself when the mediator appeared. He was taken back to be placed behind the same old prison bars, but was at last able to prove his innocence.

Two women characters perhaps make the story stronger in its plot than some of the author's other works. However, the story is an intensely interesting one at present, and the book will, no doubt, be in demand.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynde celebrated the twenty-third anniversary of their residence here the first of this month. About two years were spent in the heights of old Lookout, where the quiet found to be more desirable for an author's work.

The regular monthly meeting of the Plerim Congregational church guild will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the church.

Clifford Wescott, a dairy bacteriologist, has been added to the United States public health service staff and will have charge of the dairy inspection for the government.

FORT OGLETHORPE HAPPENINGS RECOUNTED IN WEEKLY SKETCH

Hostess House Privileges Enjoyed By Groups of Fifty to Three Hundred—Base Hospital Personnel Host at Dance, Benefit Post Red Cross—Mrs. Penrose Entertains for Mrs. Mills, Wife of Late Gen. Mills.

Nearly fifty soldiers were at one time Friday evening at the Y. W. C. A. hostess house writing letters "back home." But this number is not unusual. As many as three hundred often are enjoying the porch, browsing over books or idly relaxing in the big "comfy" rocking chairs and lounge that offer so complete a respite from the severe barracks.

Miss Bessie Uguahart, of Canada, who has recently been appointed director of the hostess house, and her assistants are doing everything possible to make the building a "real home" to the boys. The cozy living room, cooled by electric fans, with its pretty draperies and wicker furniture is especially inviting to a tired soldier boy who has been drilling throughout the day. Most any hour of the afternoon a group of boys are playing and singing at the piano, while others are enjoying John McCormack and other favorites as given by the Victrola.

Relatives and friends coming to Camp Forrest to visit their son, brother and perhaps a "sweetheart," are always welcome to make the hostess house their headquarters. Refreshments are served during the afternoon at a minimum cost. The cafeteria is open three times a day.

Knitters Defy the Heat. Owing to the very oppressive weather this week, most of the social activities have been curtailed. In spite of the warmth the women did not idle away the hours, but selected a cool place and were busy knitting and sewing for the Red Cross.

Mrs. Penrose, wife of Col. Penrose, entertained with an informal luncheon Thursday at her quarters, honoring Mrs. Albert Mills, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lawson, at Camp Forrest. Mrs. Mills is the wife of the late Gen. Mills.

Col. and Mrs. Howell, Col. and Mrs. Nacue and Miss Nacue are in command of the camp.

Members of the Eagar family. All of his letters are very optimistic and notes of gloom find no place in them. Sergt. Sparks is a son of W. J. Sparks, of 911 Akers Place, Knoxville.

Social Events of Today for Soldiers. There will be regular week-end dance at Signal Mountain in this evening.

G. A. P. Stewart chapter, U. D. C., entertains with its weekly dance at Hotel Patten this afternoon.

Mrs. J. T. Martin's circle entertains for the soldiers at the First Baptist church this evening.

The ladies of Centenary Methodist church are in charge of the entertainment at the soldiers' rest-room on road street this evening. Secretary Baskin announces that it is for all soldiers, regardless of their rank, and their lady friends.

Francis M. Walker chapter, U. D. C., will give a dance at Hotel Patten tonight.

Miss Aubie Clayton and Joseph E. Lowery were quietly married Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Love Lowery, 716 West Sixth street. Rabbi Julian Miller performed the ceremony.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held. About fifty guests were present.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Clayton, of McCallie avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowery have gone to Knoxville to visit friends and upon their return will go to housekeeping in the city.

Mr. Lowery is connected with the Columbian iron works.

SOCIETY PERSONALS. Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Noacham are in Chicago attending the National Dental association convention. While there they are guests at the Auditorium hotel. They will also visit relatives in Michigan and Franklin, Tenn.

Miss Josephine Crimmins will leave Monday for Mount Vernon, O., to visit Sister Bertrand. She will also go to Indiana for a visit, returning home Sept. 1.

Miss Eulalie Riggs will go to Birmingham next week to visit friends.

Mrs. Eugene Williams and Miss Rachel Williams have returned from Stevenson, Ala., where they visited Mrs. Ernest Knox.

Mrs. Jacqueminot Hannan is spending the week with Mrs. Robert Drake at Plinston.

Mrs. DeVini, of Cincinnati, has returned home after a visit to Miss Harriett Fawkes.

Lieut. E. H. Alquist, who is stationed at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., has recently been commissioned a captain. Mrs. Alquist is the former Miss Victoria Williams, of this city.

Mrs. Ralph Wardlaw has returned from New Orleans after spending the past two months with her husband, who is attending a naval training school there. While there Mrs. Wardlaw was a guest at Grunewald hotel. Mr. Wardlaw will go to Chicago next week to enter the officers' material school, Municipal Pier.

Mrs. Frank Wallace and Miss Elsie Wallace have returned from Knoxville. Mrs. W. C. Rogers and Miss Mollie Wallace, of Knoxville.

Miss Ethel Stivers has gone to Florence, Ala., for a two weeks' visit to her sister, Mrs. Louis Baskin.

Mrs. R. W. Butler, of Chicago, is with her mother, Mrs. H. T. Olmsted, on Lookout mountain this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stucker, of Dillard, Neb., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wheatley, having motored from Nebraska to Chattanooga.

Miss Emily McVehg, sister of Mrs. Samuel Bosworth Smith, and dean of Sweetbriar college, will leave her position there to go to France in the Red Cross service.

Miss Lucile Woodhead is visiting relatives in Murfreesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moore have returned to Chattanooga to reside, which means returning to their old home.

In a letter which bore the date of July 10, Sergt. Sparks stated that Belgium is a very pretty little place and very much like France. He said that by the time Mrs. McCoy received his message he would be celebrating his first year in Uncle Sam's grand army. The young man sent his regards to

COAL FROM NEW DAYTON SHAFT

Getting Ready to Add to Available Fuel Supply of This Section.

NEW TIPPLE COMPLETED

Extensive Improvements Undertaken at Dayton New Approaching Fruition.

One of the few important additions which can be made to the available fuel supply, since the government ruling that railroads may not connect with newly developed coal mines, is that now being brought to fruition by the Dayton Coal, Iron and Railway company, upon its property at Dayton, Tenn.

The government has declined to permit the opening of new mines because the existing openings, if worked to capacity, are entirely adequate to supply the country's needs, and if new mines were developed it would mean taking part of the available labor supply and putting it to work getting out rock before the face of the coal could be reached. It is desired that all of the mine labor shall devote its entire time to getting out coal instead of yardage.

A very unique feature of the window at Dayton, however, conditions are different. The company already has the openings, the rail connections are already there, the company operating its own railroad, and it becomes merely a matter of completing details before large scale production begins. Already the Prospect mines of the company are producing around three hundred and fifty tons of coal per day, and today the North Pole mine was put in operation. An output of 800 tons will follow shortly. Three additional mines, the Bluff, Nos. 1, 2 and 3, will go into operation this month, bringing the output up to 1,200 tons per day.

Work that has been centered around the mine tipple at North Pole, the laying of light rails from the mouth of the mine to the tipple, and the construction of the standard gauge track by way of trestle across Richland creek and on to the North Pole tipple is now completed. This trestle, a very expensive piece of construction, is 250 feet long and is built on concrete piers which extend far above the high water mark, so that repetition of the floods which washed away the trestles of the old company will not involve any danger to this.

Mechanical haulage throughout will be employed at the North Pole mine. From the opening back to the face of the coal is a distance of nearly three-quarters of a mile, and cars will be hauled this distance and the additional quarter of a mile from the opening to the tipple. A Bell engine locomotive has already been shipped and the track will be ready for it when it arrives.

Electric storage locomotives will be used to haul the coal from the entries and rooms to the main track where the cars will be picked up by the more powerful locomotive.

The new washery is practically completed and will handle 1,200 tons of coal a day when finished. With the completion of the washery, the coks will be put in operation and the production of pig iron will be next upon the program.

PARADE SHOWS ELEVENTH CAVALRY DWINDLING AWAY

Only Two Troops Pass in Review Before Lieut. Col. Boyce.

For the second time within eight days the Eleventh cavalry passed in review before Lieut. Col. Boyce this morning on the Oglethorpe parade ground. The fact that only Troops B and C and the machine-gun squad took part in the review shows that the regiment is rapidly being depleted in numbers. Different troops of it are at present scattered over the entire country, on duty at various military posts. One troop is now doing guard duty at the war prison barracks, having relieved the fifth company of guards, which is now at the prison camp at Hot Springs, N. C., waiting to bring back to Oglethorpe the German commercial prisoners who have been given up by the Germans.

One of the most persistent of the many reports which are to be heard around the camps has it that only the machine-gun detachment will be left here inside of a week. Nothing has been heard of the German regimental headquarters, but it is generally understood that the Eleventh is being slowly removed, troop by troop.
